Deaf Movie Experience

As a hearing culture, we take for granted all that we have available to us in the entertainment and media industry. We don't truly understand how it all comes together to give it feeling and emotion. Movie experiences for the deaf are different. They enjoy some more than others and their basis for this is different than a hearing person.

Now that you have watched a movie as a deaf person, compare and contrast the experience with what you normally experience. Include your feelings, likes and dislikes, and your overall impression. Could you enjoy movies if this was how it always was? What if you have never known anything different?
