

MAINTAINING EYE CONTACT

Be sure to look at the signer's face, even though you may feel you would understand better if you could focus on their hands. Remember that critical grammar is conveyed with facial expressions, and if you look away, you could miss the whole message. Eventually it will become second nature to focus on the other signer's face when using ASL.

MINIDIALOGUES

David engages in conversations with different people where he asks wh-word questions. Observe the exchange and write what David asked in each minialogue.

Minialogue 1: _____

Minialogue 2: _____

Minialogue 3: _____

Minialogue 4: _____

Minialogue 5: _____

Minialogue 6: _____

Answers on page 398.

Practice

Practice creating wh-word questions using the three wh-word signs below. Don't forget to furrow your brows, lean your head forward and hold the last sign.

ask what

ask who ask where

Vocabulary Review

Vocabulary covered in this lesson is on pages 37–38.